

IN MEMORY OF SIMON GORRINGE

It is with profound sadness that we note the passing of Simon Gorringe, one of the Company's co-founders.

Simon was instrumental in laying the technical foundations of Cool Planet Technologies ("Cool Planet") and in building our strong management and engineering teams. He played a pivotal role in the development of our technology, projects and business. His expertise, dedication and unwavering commitment helped shape the Company and its vision, leaving a lasting impact on colleagues, business partners and customers alike.

Simon will be remembered for his generosity, integrity, good humour and willingness to support those around him. He was a trusted colleague and a dear friend to many, and we are committed to continuing his work and honouring his legacy.

